"Stout Hearted Men," written by Sigmund Romberg was sung by David H. McIntosh Jr., with a band accompaniment. As an encore McIntosh sang a medley of "Let the Rest of the World Go By" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," both by Ernest Bald. Gilbert Anderson arranged this medley.

"Pop! Goes the Weasel" arranged by Lucien Cailliet, "My Hero" from "The Chocolate Soldier" by Oscar Strauss, "Deep Purple" by Peter de Rosa were other outstanding selections on the program. The band played "Pepitols" as an encore.

Big, Bad Wolf Is Granted Reprieve By Decision of Museum Curator

The big bad wolf who made her debut at Southern last week when she was delivered to John W. Allen, curator of Southern's museum, has been granted a reprieve. Formerly she had been sentenced to the farm of Irvin Pettibone and placed with the museum wild-life collection, but now Mr. Allen has decided to hold off the execution.

She was first identified as a timber wolf, but the classification is not certain. If it is any consolation to the wolf, she will

TWO-DAY COLLEGE SPEECH MEET TO BE ON CAMPUS

A two-day Egyptian Speech Festival will be held on the Southern campus February 29-March 1. Dr. P. M. Larson, chairman of the speech department, has announced.

Invitations are going to approximately 150 colleges in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Missouri to send speech teams to participate in the festival.

Special features of the festival will be a lecture-essay on "The Egyptian Speech Festival," by Maj. Charles Estes of the United States Civil Service, and one on U. S.-S.U.S.S.R. relations, led by Dr. Willis G. Swartz, chairman of the government department.

Fourteen events will be staged in which the college teams may participate: original oratory; men and women; women's poetry reading; men's oratorical declamation; dramatic reading, for men and women; radio newscasting; extemporaneous speaking, for men and women; group discussion; debate, for men and women; and beginner's debate.

Barton Attends Forestry Meet In Urbana Last Week

Dr. Thomas F. Barton, chairman of the geography department at Southern, attended a meeting of Illinois Technical Forestry Association last week in Urbana.

The association is planning a bulletin entitled "A Plan for Forestry in Illinois." Dr. Barton acted, and committees have been appointed to handle chapters of the bulletin.

Dr. Barton is a member of the committee planning chapter on "Present Status of Forest and Potential Forests," and also the committee concerned with the chapter titled "Inhabitation and Potentialities of Forest Land Development and Utilization." He has been assigned to write the latter chapter.

He was permitted to live for no less than one month and perhaps as many as six until her species is properly identified.

Her trouble began on January 16 when she inadvertently pulled her foot into a steel trap owned by Kercheb Brooks of Karnak. She was then bundled into a wire cage and delivered to Mr. Allen.

After her brief sojourn here at the museum, she will be removed to the farm of Irvin Pettibone where he and his son Russel will attempt to tame the beast.

The organization winning the contest will be presented with a prize plaque by Little Theatre. Medals will be awarded the outstanding actor and actress in the contest and to the entire cast of the winning play.

Southern Receives National Recognition

Southern has been elected to membership in the Association of American Colleges in recognition of its comparatively new College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, according to correspondence received from Guy E. Snavely, secretary of the association.

"It is with great pleasure I inform you of the election of Southern Illinois Normal University to membership in our association at its annual meeting held last week in Boston. This action was taken on recommendation of the Board of Directors, which makes careful investigation of all applications," wrote Mr. Snavely.

This is the second national association which has extended recognition of Southern's expansion from a teacher's college into broader fields of education. Last spring this institution was "promoted" from Group II to Group IV in the roster of accredited educational institutions maintained by the Southern Educational Association of Colleges and Secondary schools. Group IV is composed exclusively of universities.

Rural Life Club To Be Reorganized

Plans for the reorganization of the Rural Life Club will begin next Tuesday evening when club members meet in the student union at 7:30 p. m. to elect officers.

The evening's program will also include group singing and folk dances. Members appointed to the program committee include Lou Rowland, Jean Bauer, George Brock, and Louis Irvin.

All students interested in rural life activities are invited to attend meetings and participate. Future teachers in rural schools, elementary and secondary education majors, rural theological students, and farm students majoring in agriculture will be qualified members.

Davis Addresses Journalism Class

Accuracy was the keynote of the address made by Robert W. Davis, editor-publisher of the Carbondale Free Press before a group of student journalists last Monday.

The students are members of the Journalism 201 class taught by Robert A. Steffes, instructor in journalism and typing, who invited Mr. Davis to state his opinion on various questions asked by members of the class.

BOARD TO RESUME HEARINGS FRIDAY

Consideration of adverse publicity centering around Southern's administration will be resumed here next Friday, February 7, according to an announcement made last Wednesday by Frank Thompson, chairman, State Teachers College Board.

Investigation proceedings were opened here January 21 and continued through the following four days. During that period, the board interviewed approximately 300 witnesses including the entire faculty, the Student Council, editors of the Egyptian, townspeople and members of the Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association.

To Open Bidding For Landscaping Training School Site

Architect's blueprints for the landscape development of the proposed new Training School site at Southern have been completed and call for bids on site preparation will probably be signed shortly. Charles S. Hill, State landscape architect, has notified University authorities here.

"The advertisement and opening of bids will probably take from four to five weeks," Mr. Hill wrote University President Chester F. Lay, "and if contract prices are favorable, the work should be under way approximately three or four weeks thereafter."

The Commerce club, under the direction of its new sponsor, Leonard Neefe, assistant professor of business, met Wednesday evening to elect officers.

Plans were made to ask businessmen to discuss their business experiences at future meetings, and the following committee was appointed: Dick Woods, Rose Anzalone and Veda Hallam.

Third ISU Forum Presents Baxter On Good Neighbors

Inter-American cooperation in cultural relations, economic cooperation, and mutual good will was the keynote of the address by Joseph R. Baxter, instructor in Latin American history at Southern, last night during the Independent Student Forum which was held in the Little Theatre.

Mr. Baxter pointed out our relations with the republics of the south have in the last few years been better in many respects than ever before. He stated, "Much progress has been made in fostering a general understanding between the United States and our neighbors of Latin America."

He went on to add that this progress was assisted by the various inter-American conferences. The last of these was the one held in Mexico City from February 21 to March 8, 1945.

During that conference the Act of Chapultepec was passed, which stated, "that every attack of a state against the sovereignty or political independence of an American state, shall be considered as an act of aggression against the other Americans, which sign this declaration."

Mr. Baxter expressed the sentiments that the Act of Chapultepec is significant because it appears to be the universal Monroe Doctrine with a multi-lateral Pan-American policy designed to protect American states from the aggression of any power outside this hemisphere. He said the continued strengthening of our ties with Latin America is of tremendous importance in our program for world peace.

Mr. Baxter stated our cultural relations policy has made important progress by the exchange of teachers and students which was made possible by the Buenos Aires agreement of 1936. He expressed the sentiments that perhaps no other phase of our program can contribute more eventually to our understanding with our Latin American neighbors.

Mr. Baxter was the third speaker on the weekly forum series which is being presented by the I. S. U. on current international problems. Next, Dr. H. J. Rehn, dean of the College of Vocations and Professions, will speak on the "War in China." This will also be the Little Theatre at 8 p. m., and the public is invited to attend.

LIFT SUB-CEILINGS ON FACULTY PAY FOR NEXT BIENNIIUM

Waiving for the 1947-49 biennium of the prevailing salary "sub-ceiling" for instructors and assistant professors at the five Illinois teachers colleges and normal universities was authorized by the State Teachers College Board at its recent meeting here, President Chester F. Lay announced Thursday.

The present salary schedule framework provided for certain salary brackets for each of the four faculty ranks—instructor, assistant professor, associate professor, and full professor.

In addition, within the ranks for instructors and assistant professors, there are "sub-ceilings" which prohibit paying individuals the top salary for their respective ranks until they have completed a certain amount of study advanced beyond the master's degree.

For example, the salary range for instructors is $250 to $350 per month. Each instructor must have a master's degree. For those who present in additional graduate work, a sub-ceiling of $320 is fixed, but with one year's work toward the doctor's degree, the ceiling goes up to $350.

For assistant professors, the ceiling is $400 to $450, with a sub-ceiling of $370 for those who have only one year's work toward the doctor's degree. With two years' doctoral study, the ceiling is lifted to $450.

These sub-ceilings have worked a hardship in obtaining new faculty members in recent years, and the board has now authorized the ceiling to be waived for the next biennium.

Band Is Featured At Student Assembly

Harold C. Hines led the Southern band in student assembly on Monday morning in selections from the Wednesday night band concert. The music was provided for the special benefit of those students who were unable to attend the concert.

An announcement was made concerning the March of Dimes drive. Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, with the cooperation of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, is sponsoring the March of Dimes on the campus. The campaign will continue throughout Friday. Opportunities to contribute will be provided in the form of Shryock Auditorium and in the cross-halls of Old Main.

SCHOOL TO CLOSE LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

The Advisory Council has announced that classes will be dismissed on Wednesday, February 12, in honor of Lincoln's birthday.

Gov. Green Signs Bill For Additional Money

Gov. Dwight H. Green Wednesday night signed the bill making a supplementary appropriation of $200,000 for the remainder of the current biennium, according to a telephone call Thursday morning from Frank G. Thompson, State Director of Registration Education and chairman of the State Teachers College Board, to President Chester F. Lay.

This supplementary appropriation, Director The son emphasized, comes not from tax money but from tax money which the Univer has already earned this biennium and which now comes available for expenditure.

24 HIGH SCHOOLS IN CHORAL CLINIC

Southern's music department is sponsoring a Chorus Clinic Saturday, February 22 in Shryock Auditorium at 7:21 p. m. Twenty-four Southern Illinois high schools will participate in the clinic. Registrations this year are far beyond any previous registrations.

Guest director will be Olaf Christensen, director of the famous St. Olaf Choir.

Requests for seats have reached 1603 at the present time with the maximum seating capacity being 725. The larger groups are being asked to cut their groups in order that more seats will be available.

Dr. Young Attending Scientific Meeting

Dr. O. B. Young, chairman of the physics and astronomy department, will attend the meeting of the American Association for Advancement of Science which will be held at the Columbia University in New York from January 30 to February 1.

Many outstanding physicists, connected with research in atomic energy, will be present at the first meeting of the civic division.

McGovern, Welch Read Articles To Writer's Club

Joe McGovern's "Sermon on Tibet" was read to the Writers club group which met in the Wheeler library basement Wednesday evening. An essay "Life in America," written by Bill Welch, was also read to the group.

Guest speaker Henry L. Wilson, associate professor of English, was appointed the new club sponsor since evening classes make it impossible for the regular club sponsor, Dr. Claude Coleman, associate professor of English, to attend.

Those who attended Wednesday evening's meeting were Mildred Waidelids, Lila Cook, Fred Stent, Bob Brooks, Bill Welch, Frankie Hamilton, Bill Stator, Bill Price, and Joe McGovern.

The club will meet again next Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the curriculum laboratory of the Wheeler library basement.

Physical Plant Is The Service And Maintenance Department For Southern

"Trouble is our middle name. When a pipe isn't leaking we are moving a piano. We are the maintenance and service group for the entire University," stated Dr. William Neal Phelps, associate professor of education and director of the University physical plant.

Dr. Roscoe Pulliam, late president of Southern, organized the group known as the physical plant and appointed Roscoe McCreight as director, who served until he entered service. John Wright, associate professor of history, directed its activities during the war years until McCreight was discharged from the service. McCreight served as director until he accepted a position at South Bend, Indiana, and John Allen, curator of the University museum, served until he was relieved on December 3, 1946, by Dr. Phelps.

The physical plant services and maintains all buildings and grounds on the campus proper, houses purchased, state farm buildings, the Chautauque housing project, and the Illinois Oriental Plant administration area, now being converted into apart-houses for student veterans and their families.

The physical plant uses many employees: carpenters, night and day watchmen, electricians, steam fitters, janitors, domestics, plumbers, painters, gardeners, and groundskeepers, for every emergency about the campus.

BLUE BOOK INCONSISTENT

Southern rated six and a half pages with three pictures and news on the development of the University in the 1945-46 edition of the Illinois Blue Book published annually by the Secretary of State.
"The Blue Book is a publication of which the State justly is proud," says the Secretary of State in the preface. The editors of this paper can hardly be proud of a publication which in little more than one inch of type refers to Southern with three different titles, namely, Southern Illinois State Teachers College, Southern Illinois State Normal University, and Southern Illinois Normal University. In addition, the book lists a fourth name, Southern State Teachers, in the index. Perhaps we should feel a little proud that the Blue Book DOES include the University's correct name once.
The Egyptian editors suggest that every Southern student write the Secretary of State informing him that the legal name of this institution is Southern Illinois Normal University.

And So the Story Goes

By
CURTIS HISE and CLETIS HISE

"THE LADY" DOES IT AGAIN. Earlier this week the Murphysboro Daily Independent ran a splendid editorial entitled "The Lady From Washington" in which that paper commented on a recent address by Mrs. Eugene Meyer, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post.
I suppose you all remember Mrs. Eugene Meyer. It was "The Lady" who a few years ago in one of her social investigations toured the coal mining area of Southern Illinois. She went back to Washington and pictured the good people of Southern Illinois as "being paraded to the world as a sort of Tobacco Road community."
Her particular visit was to Herrin and to the Illinois Ordnance Plant. Naturally the people in that area protested, but "The Lady" didn't stop. She even went so far as to record her propaganda in a book.
According to the Independent she "put the area's lack of morals, as she saw morality, and an alleged lack of religious inspiration do anything about it, and a predominating uncouthness in dress and custom, into the same duffie bag, shook them up, and left it like an illegitimate baby on our coal belt's door step."
In a recent address before the Women's Patriotic Conference on the National Defense, "The Lady" says Communism and Socialism are "on the march."
"Unfortunately," she says, "the established churches are so preoccupied with material possessions that it is precisely the poorest agricultural and urban areas, where emotional and spiritual security are the most needed, that their influence is least sought." The Independent says "Lady is still."
The Murphysboro paper asks, "could it be that if Mrs. Meyer domesticated herself in some quiet agricultural or urban area, far removed from the metropolitan districts she knows and hates, and her own social correctives a more palatable medicine, at least for the segment of society she knows least about?"
Certainly the Independent is to be commended for editorially answering "The Lady's" false propaganda. We must realize that the people of Southern Illinois fight back at such assertions can we succeed in emerging from beneath the filthy skin of false propaganda.
"ON GUARD" - UNIVERSITIES. The National Collegiate Athletic Association has launched a nationwide housecleaning campaign to restore intercollegiate athletics to the students from whence they came.
During the past year collegiate athletic scandals reached an all time high. Many universities have canceled intercollegiate competition, and others are putting a close watch on their athletic departments.
It seems that many people think that college athletics should go along with professionalism and fall into the hands of big time gamblers. Certainly that has happened at more than one university, so when outsiders get a hold on any athletic department they "watch out" universities. The next step is "big time" stuff.
The St. Louis Globe-Democrat said in a recent editorial: "There is now hope, however, that America's colleges and universities will restore intercollegiate athletics to its proper place as a campus activity. BY AND FOR THE STUDENTS."

CLEAN RESTAURANT BILL: According to a St. Louis newspaper dispatch only 14 per cent, or about one seven of the restaurants in Lowry's survey have received an 'A' rating in a tentative grading under the provisions of a new "clean restaurant bill" which goes into effect April 21.
This inspection is a temporary one and will give the owners a chance to clean up the place before April.
The figures, however, are worth mentioning. Out of 1,019 eating places, only 143 got an 'A' rating, while

The Southern Parade

The mile or more is a very difficult subject to stay away from, since so much MOM activity is taking place each day. Interest in the "burd" here at Southern is due for an upswing with the appearance of "Chuck" Rust's sketch of a prime MOM specimen in this week's Egyptian.
Rust made the drawing from memory as he was lucky enough to stumble across a fine rooster sunning itself upon an ant hill, while on a field trip in the vicinity of Marissa, during the Christmas holidays.
Rust has been credited with giving the most satisfactory explanation, to date, of why the "burd" is named the mile or more. According to him, since it has a double foot (toes on each end, that is) it takes back a step for every forward stride which it takes and under those difficult conditions, tries to average a mile or more every night. We say night for it must be remembered that the "burd" is a nocturnal creature, which seldom ventures forth during the daylight hours.
Other MOM admirers make light of "Chuck's" explanation and insist that the mile or more found the origin of its name in the fact that upon still evenings its beautiful, haunting song can be heard for a mile or more. Who here has heard such a sound?
A struggle of no little consequence is taking place within MOM ranks, even now. Two of Southern's most charming coeds are carrying on a stubborn fight to be admitted to membership in the organization. They are Katie Alley and Shirley Stone. Secretary W. E. Baker, of the front office declared in his latest memorandum upon the Stone case that while he and other high ranking "burd" lovers were inclined to look with favor upon the applications of both Miss Stone and Miss Alley, nothing could be done until the next Board meeting which will be held in March. At that time an investigation of the situation will take place, said Baker.
Keep sluggin', girls.

CONGRATULATIONS
... champions Dan Cox, Paul Smith, and Jack Mc Carthy, for carrying Southern's name to victory in the final bout of the Golden Gloves tournament at Herrin! We'll all be backing you at Centralia.

Speaking of boxing, why can't we have a revival of the annual boxing-wrestling tournaments which were so popular here on the campus before the war? They always drew a good attendance and gave many athletes who played neither football nor basketball a chance to display their skill to the student body. The greatest objective of the athletic department should be, it seems to us, a more complete participation of the entire school enrollment in sports, rather than the turning out of winning varsity teams. The fine intra-mural basketball program now in full swing is doing much toward the realization of that objective, it is true, but the addition of a boxing-wrestling tournament to Southern's sport schedule would bring it even nearer. How about this, Athletic Director Martin, could we have one this year?

...Looking Elsewhere...

By JUNE FULKERSON
WE DIDN'T THINK it could happen, but according to Eastern Teachers' News, it did. In Kansas, a restaurant owner, phoned a Mrs. Jane Kilroy to complain that her son was defacing his property by writing his name all over the walls.
DARN WHITE of 'em, we said as we read of an ad in a Columbia, S. C., paper, which proclaimed "Nice room, nice bath, no objections to Yuckies."
SOUTHERN HAS no monopoly on the chapel attendance problem, judging from numerous editorials we've seen in various college papers. The most recent one appeared in Macomb's The Western Courier pleading for better chapel attendance.
772 or 75.5 per cent were given the low rating and have only 30 days to improve their status or to close.
No doubt a few eating establishments here in Southern Illinois should take note of this action in St. Louis.

NO PAPER TODAY. We have received several letters and have listened to many verbal complaints from veterans concerning the lack of supplies in the University bookstore. At first these charges seemed absurd. And when the complaints started coming in so thick and fast, we decided it was time to go to bat for the dear old Alma Mater. But we told one little delegation which had printed itself in the Egyptian office that we would print their complaints, giving the administration a chance to reply.
Since we didn't have any paper handy, we dashed up to the bookstore for some note book filler. We asked the clerk for some blank paper. He answered, "Sorry, no paper." "How about a couple of notebooks, then," we asked. His reply, "Sorry, none of those either."
Well, this got us to thinking that maybe there was something to the complaints we had received. But we couldn't find any paper on which to print our column. Finally we decided that since the GI Bill specifically states the school will provide all supplies, it wouldn't make too much difference where we got the paper as long as the school was providing.
We aren't saying where we got the paper or what kind of paper it was; but this is the first week we have turned our column in to the editor in the form of a scroll.

...Looking Backward...

By Jean Larson
The Egyptian, April 12, 1935, states that Henry Hill is addicted to seeing snakes in his bed. And the sequel to that story can be seen at the community cinema—"The Lost Weekend." It's called.
Hey, all you ex-GI's attired in olive drab and khaki, wanted buy a 69 cent white shirt, with pre-shrunk collar! You're a little late, but it was possible, the ads stated in the November 1932 Egyptian.
A headline in the March 1, 1933 Egyptian reads: "Students Vote To Have Friday Exams End by One-thirty"—one of the finest examples of applied democracy to come to our attention since the Boston Tea Party.
The April 3, 1936 Egyptian observes that when a girl says "no" she means "yes" and when she says "yes" she means "yes." Inspired by this brief quote "Accentuate the Positive" was born, issue of the Egyptian.
Those of us who believe that, as almost-mature students, our lives are over-encumbered by college rules find things could be worse: the September 7, 1932, issue proclaims "Students are not to sit in cars that are parked on the campus. Students are also forbidden to drive their cars from the campus during the time classes are in session."

Q. How many hours must a veteran in training under PL 16 carry?
A. The law requires that a trainee under PL 16 take a "full time course." The rehabilitation program is set up on an average load basis. That is, an average load for the college or university attended. A trainee under PL 16 may not take less than a normal load without prior approval of the V. A. Training Officer. (Langdon)
Q. If I find it necessary to quit school, what should I do to "clear" with the school?
A. You should notify your instructors and the Registrar of your intention to leave school. This is done by contacting the Dean of Men and getting a "drop card," which is taken to the appropriate individuals. Also notify the Training Officer or the Chief of the Guidance Center of the date on which you quit. (Wolfe and Hickey)
Q. If I am absent from school because of sickness, will my assistance be stopped?
A. That depends on several factors that may differ in individual cases. While you are attending school, you accumulate sick leave and annual leave credits at approximately the same rate as Federal Civil Service workers do. Such acquired leave time may be used during periods of sickness. You should notify your Training Officer so that your interests may be protected.
Speaking of Ethics
We wonder if those faculty members who like to lecture on journalistic ethics when criticizing the Egyptian for printing material they feel should be suppressed realize just how ethical it is to destructively criticize a person or group to a class. We're paying tuition to receive an education, not to hear a faculty member complain!

NOTICE TO VETERANS
The regular monthly survey of veterans in training at Southern who are not receiving subsistence will be conducted by the Veterans' Administration Training Officer Tuesday, February 3 through Friday, Feb. 7.
MUSIC HOUR PROGRAM

Armstrong can be found in the historical library every day from 11-12 and 4-5, Kenney in the Egyptian office every day from 11-12.

Coleman, Illinois Grad, Is Interested In Semantics and Current Literature

By Bill Welch

Characteristic of native Illinoisans for his spirited personality and love for the small, midwestern town, Dr. Claude Coleman, associate professor of English and proud family man, adjusts himself easily to life at Southern.

Dr. Coleman was born near Greenup, Cumberland county, Illinois, and received the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Illinois in 1924. Choosing the teaching profession, he was English instructor at Taylorville high school for three years.

Later, in 1937, Dr. Coleman finished work for the master's degree at the University of Wisconsin. He was appointed to a position as instructor of English at the University of Illinois, where he remained until he received his doctor of philosophy degree in 1938. In 1939, he accepted a teaching position at the East Texas State Teachers College, leaving there the next term to join the faculty of being listed in the December, 1946, edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Reminiscing about his college years, Dave considers the winter of '41-'42 to be the most interesting. That winter he was official scorekeeper of the Southern basketball team. Dave says, "That was the year Sebastian, Henrietta, Moody, Millipouch, N. Milosovich, and Malinski were members of the squad."

"The biggest thrill of the season came when Southern defeated two nationally recognized colleges on the last Friday and Saturday, consecutive nights, of the season. Those teams were Cape Girardeau Teachers and Normal. This loss was the only conference defeat for the conference leading Normal quintet."

In addition to the above activities, Dave is president of Chi Delta Chi fraternity, member of the Inter-Fraternity council, and was a member of the 1946 homecoming committee. He is a government and history major and will probably teach a few years before starting graduate work.

Dave and his wife, the former Wanda Carter, can easily say they received their college work together—both started their college careers in September 1940; both will graduate in June, 1947.

DR. CLAUDE COLEMAN

Rul Ross State Teachers College, Alpine, Texas. He returned to Illinois in 1946, joining Southern's English department.

Dr. Coleman is interested in semantics and current literature, his favorite poet being Robinson Jeffers. He stated, "I consider Shelley's 'Ode to the West Wind,' the greatest short poem in the English language, with Robinson Jeffers' 'Night' second in standing."

Dr. Coleman is married to the former Hazel Votaw, graduate of the University of Illinois and formerly an instructor at Pana high school. Mrs. Coleman is interested in the American Association of University Women and the Parent Teachers Association.

The Colemans have five children; a son is an ensign in the Naval reserve, Dorothy is a freshman at Southern, two sons attend Carbondale Community high, and a younger son attends Brush grade school.

With tennis and swimming formerly ranking highest in his sports world, he indulges in the pastime of chess and admits that he can play a "fumbling" hand of bridge.

He rarely misses a "hello" and, he's often heard to remark "drop around sometime" to even a casual acquaintance.

Maroons Take Over IIAC Lead By Defeating Huskies 62-53 Last Saturday Night

By Fenton Harris

By virtue of some sharp shooting by John Sebastian and Oliver Shoff, who scored 16 points each and Quentin Stinson, who scored 14 points, the Maroons were able to defeat the Huskies of Northern 62-53 here Saturday night, thereby taking full possession of the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference lead.

The Maroons scored only one more field goal than the 20 scored by Northern but showed uncanny accuracy by scoring 49 of 50 free tosses, while DeKalb counted but 13 points from the free throw line.

The game began with Stinson tossing in a two-pointer to put Southern in the lead. After this the Maroons built up a comfortable margin only to have the Huskies overtake them midway in the first half.

However, Southern prevented them from taking a commanding lead, and the remainder of the half was played with not more than four points separating the

CAPE ANNEXES 51-40 DECISION

By John Rendleman

The "Junior Wits" looked anything but that last Wednesday night when they dropped a 61-40 decision to the Cape Girardeau Indians in the Cape fieldhouse.

This was Southern's second contest with the Missouri field. In the first contest the Maroons were the victors, 42-39, but the Cape quintet gained revenge, while keeping the Southern team at a safe distance from the lead all through the game.

Herb Upton and Martin Radmer led the victors with 15 points apiece, while Oliver Shoff carried home Southern's individual scoring honors with 13. The game was a close one, with five, all of which were free throws.

Most of the Southern squad saw action but with the exception of Shoff, couldn't connect with the hoop. Even the rebounding, which has been a Maroon strong point all season, was controlled by the Indians. Southern wasn't up to par in any respect, and their record in one of their performances all season. However, Cape had a strong team and their offense was one to be envied, while defensively they forced Southern to attempt to score by long shots.

Cape counted first on a free throw, but four minutes of playing time elapsed before Southern, by a gift shot by Stinson, entered the scoring column.

With the score generally, Cape Girardeau began to climb in the lead. The Indians controlled the scoring for the remainder of the period and at the half were on the heavy end, 23-13.

In the second half, Southern failed to connect with eight free throws.

Upton of Cape opened the second period with a two-pointer and it wasn't long until the Missouri field had increased their lead 37-17.

Southern showed some of their usual fire at this point when they supported an offensive drive, which cut the Cape lead, 38-26.

The Indians held their own for the remainder of the game and as the final gun sounded, Southern was on the humiliating end of a 61-40 score.

Last year, for the first time in the history of our school, the basketball team won the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship. This year's team, although their current record stands at 12 wins and six defeats, has a good chance to do a repeat performance in the conference.

Western came the closest to knocking the Maroons off this year, as they fell by the wayside 48-42. Eastern was knocked out 58-38, while Northern was dropped 62-53. This leaves only one conference team to play, State Normal, reputed to have the weakest team in the loop play this year. However, all the sports world that it is worth 10 points for a team to be playing at home. If that holds true, then Western is the only team that the Southerners need fear. However, basketball is another sport that cannot be worked out on paper, so the only thing to worry about now is getting by State Normal

It seems that since we ran the article about a certain member's tea drinking habits, the said coach won't touch the stuff. However, at tea time, it is rumored that he slips away to the athletic field. Wonder what the possibilities are for a clandestine tea party.

DID YOU KNOW—that Gene Hall, guard on the basketball team is 33 years old; that Ab-Cassidy was knocked out 58-38; that Southern formerly played football with the Cape Girardeau; that this is the third straight year that the Maroons will participate in the National Intercollegiate basketball tournament at Kansas City; that Basketball Coach Lynn Holder was formerly a star basketball and football player here at Southern back in the early 1930's.

The most significant thing about the IIAC standings is that every team except Southern has lost at least two games. That means the undefeated Carbondale five can afford to lose one game and still maintain undisputed conference leadership.

By BOB CURTIS

Southern's Maroons journey to Normal tomorrow night for a conference game with the cellar-dwelling Redbirds of Illinois State Normal University.

Next home game will be on Wednesday, February 5, when the Maroons take the floor against the University of Chicago Maroons in the first meeting between the two schools. Chicago, which has become the leading mid-west school favoring de-emphasis of athletics, boasts a season record of three wins and eight losses.

Normal's conference record is three defeats and no victories, which is just opposite to the Southern record of three conference wins and no losses. On this basis the Maroons must be favored, but previous records are proving a very poor basis for prediction in the IIAC this year.

Coach Lynn Holder plans to stick by his regular starting line-up in these games with Oliver Shoff and John Sebastian at forward, Quentin Stinson at center, and Leah Colburn and Gene Hall at the guard slots.

Leddie Cabutti, who has been out of action for over a month, is expected to see considerable action soon.

Although Sam Milosevich is not in top shape as yet, Coach Holder expects the veteran star to be completely recovered from the injury he sustained in football with-in the next week or two.

If Cabutti and Milosevich begin operating at high speed, the Maroons will have three of the five men who carried them to the Intercollegiate championship last year on the floor together for the first time this season, since Quentin Stinson has been operating under the basket in brilliant form in recent games.

Starting line for the University of Chicago game next Wednesday will be as usual—8:15 p. m.

The Southern Veterans bowling quintet handed the Leslie Dixie squad three consecutive games on Tuesday evening, finishing by the small margin of 2669-2543, in the Dixie League at the Congress Lanes downtown.

The Southern team, comprised of veterans Herman Entsminger, Charles Lambert, Carl Frohock, William Hemmer, and Dick Cooper, has a league standing of fourth in six teams, two of which have rarely been beaten by either local or visiting talent, namely, Leonard's Beauty Boys and Leslie's Dixie.

Southern's opponent next week will be Eddie Miles All-Stars captained by Edward V. Miles, business manager of the University. The All-Stars have defeated the Vets 12 games out of the 21 already played.

After knocking off the Maroons in a 52-47 thriller here last week, James Miliken of Decatur eliminated Wheaton from the rapidly thinning ranks of the nation's undefeated teams by a 55-41 score Saturday night. The loss was Wheaton's first in 11 games this season. Southern will have a chance to revenge herself upon Miliken on February 15 in the second game of a road trip which will see them at Macomb the previous night.

Next Wednesday night will see the Maroons pitted against Chicago in one of the two home games remaining upon the schedule. The Washington University Bears of St. Louis, turned Chicago back 56-28 last week.
